JESSE CARRIER & MARA MILLER

Timeless, tailored, and architecturally appropriate turns up the style of Carrier and Company, and designers Jesse Carrier and Mara Miller stayed true to form in the showhouse basement. Neither man cave nor girls' slam, the game room is "a sanctuary the entire family can enjoy all year long," says Miller. An inviting nutmeg glasscloth from Twenty2 warms walls, and the same hue covers the 1950s pool table, integrating it into the design. Kilim-covered George Smith club chairs front an exit room while a Schumacher linen-covered Old Town Crossing ottoman exudes comfort. Warm layering includes an antique table with a red Tessie lamp and an old Oushak atop Stark's seagrass rug. ▶
