edit note

We've all heard the phrase: Give the people what they want. So we did. Our audience just can't seem to get enough eye candy in the form of inspiring spaces in and around the home. To help our design professionals get their work seen and shared—while offering a sweet selection of projects in each of our 17 categories for our readers to binge on—we launched an online contest where showing the love meant racking up the “likes.”

What you will see is what the people picked!
