

WHO'S THE FAIREST?

The leather-strapped, hammered-nickel Altavista mirror by Casamidy lends a handcrafted edge to otherwise polished surroundings; casamidy.com.

Greenhouse Effect

A jungle of color and pattern make for a wild bath.

Jeannie Fraise of San Francisco's Lotus Bleu packed plenty of personality into a diminutive master bathroom in Kentfield with fanciful wallpaper, glossy mosaic tile and unexpected accessories. Known for her fearless use of color, Fraise adopted a leafy palette to mimic the vibrant garden views. She enlarged the window to frame the lush trees outside, and chose bold floral wallpaper featuring stylized foxgloves. The pattern makes a dramatic statement when paired with the streamlined bamboo-and-Caesarstone vanity and sleek hardware. Fraise also updated the lighting fixtures and added a shower lined in grassy green glass and penny tiles. —Lynn Kloythanomsup

Known for her fearless use of color, Fraise adopted a leafy palette to mimic the vibrant garden views.

SUPPORTING CAST

A clean-lined Grohe Allure single-lever chrome faucet counterbalances the attention-grabbing wallpaper; grohe.com.

BEAT THE HEAT
Osborne & Little's Foxglove wallpaper was treated before installation to withstand its steamy environs; osborneandlittle.com.