How does a recent project embody the power of design?

"Projects ranging from the inaugural Coda Automotive electric-car office in Los Angeles to a handful of New York residences have reminded us that a keenly selected paint color goes a long way." —Delta Wright of Curated

Did a specific survival
strategy carry you through?

"We rented out some of our studio space, took on teaching positions, and pursued projects abroad. We learned to ask for help and to accept it graciously." —Debra Wright of Curated

Is there a creative activity that energizes you?

Curated

"Painting on canvas allows me to study and manipulate colors that later inform the palettes of our projects." —Elena Frampton
