Morris Code

"Everything has to flow from space to space," says the Brookhaven-bred interiors maven Amy D. Morris. "I try not to make it look like a room that's noticeably done by me." Morris' knack for artful layering, showcased in her portfolio of cozy, polished digs, has earned her an ADAC Rising Star award, elevating her to in-demand ingenue. "It's been an amazing journey just doing what I love and making people happy while I'm at it." Up next? A smattering of design projects across the region, including a midcentury home in Buckhead. "It's so unusual for our city," she exclaims, "which I just love!" amydmorris.com

VISION QUEST

"My home now is very comfortable and traditional. I started with a neutral palette. With time, I added a lot of color; lots of peacock and chartreuse," says Morris.
